MONDAY, DEC. 10, 1894.

Experiments made lately by the United States Navy department have upset some of the extravagant claims made for the new metal, aluminum. It does not repel barnacles and is not a suitable material to be kept in salt water for any length of time. Its lightness recommends it for metal work exposed to salt water only occasionally. According to these findings aluminum would make good racing boats that may be washed off and hung up to dry after each brief contact with the water.

THE CAPTIVES.

It does not appear from the number of persons and the amount of war material captured by the police that any formidable conspiracy was on foot. For the premises of one man Mr. Bush's yielded rather profusely to the raid, yet, if that place was the head centre of plotting and the principal depository of war material, the game was scarcely worth the candle. It might be outside of criticism if the object was only to find concealed arms, but, if it were to discover treason, while the symptoms revealed may be only too obvious, evidence to hold men in prison without bail for three months would seem to be rather dimmy. We are fully of the belief in the doctrine that prevention is better than cure, and that the Government should not take chances in protecting itself from subversion. Yet there is such a thing as being too premature in taking action, which might result in increasing rather than diminishing occasion for alarm. In this connection it is not out of place to recall the outcry, joined in by many men prominent as supporters and salaried servants of the present Government, against the action of Marshal Wilson in 1892, when he stopped a revolution that was far advanced in preliminaries. "There cannot be treason without the commission of an overt act," was the familiar asseveration of these people suddenly become learned in the law, and they fairly drove lovers of peace and quiet out of the street cars with the tireless reiteration of their marvelous legal lore. Although the accumulation of evidence for the trial of those arrested on that occasion was most direct and the conspiracy, from the number caught in it, formidable, the persons referred to persisted in arguing that the Government had no right to take the action it did in self-protection. Their arguments will apply with proportionately greater force to the present case if, as appears to be the case, the conspiracy had only reached contemptible proportions. This paper has no sympathy for Mr. Bush excepting as a man in trouble, because he is largely responsible for the subversion of Hawaiian independence which has taken place. He was one of the leaders in the attacks upon the established government as such prior to 1893, and he joined hands with those he reviles to-day to promote the confusion at the legislative session of 1892, which gave the Queen an advantage that she unfortunately used to her own undoing under the influence of unwise counsellors. Yet we believe that the Government would show more strength by avoiding undue haste in proceeding against people who wear disloyalty on their sleeves, but who have not enough influence of their own to ever make any serious disturbance. By waiting a little longer they might have more effectually put an end to all secret plotting. The impression that undue haste was exercised on this occasion is strengthened by the knowledge that the active agent, the commanding police officer who made the raid, acted most erratically in performing ordinary police duty, for the preservation of the peace, the same evening.

DEFENSE OF HIS FAITH.

Mr. Garvin Replies to Attacks by Sereno E. Bishop.

Odium theologum is the revival of an old species of mental bug or blight which has settled in Honolulu. And this is how it came about. For years the Congregational Church has held sole sway in Honolulu as the representative of evangelical Christianity. This year, however, a Methodist Episcopal organization has been started and the Salvation Army has established a post and the Christian Church has started a mission. Then the Rev. S. E. Bishop wrote of these things in the Friend for December, and while professing pleasure at the former two decried the latter and made what its minister, T. D. Garvin, considered as injurious and erroneous statements concerning the body, its teachings, and its own work. Consequently Mr. Garvin asked for space in the Friend to reply. Mr. Bishop wouldn't give him any and told him he had other media of reaching the public. Then Mr. Garvin announced through the press that he would read the charges yesterday evening in the Gospel tent on Palace Square and defend himself and his teachings against Mr. Bishop's aspersions. This brought a large, intelligent and thoughtful audience together at the time announced.

After the usual opening exercises Mr. Garvin stood up and said that, like St. Paul in his defenses, he would begin with his own life. From this it appears that he is a Pennsylvanian by birth, of covenanting Scotch extraction, an Ohioan by adoption and a Christian worker in nearly every State in the Union. His maternal grandmother and grandfather were two of the original seven who were baptized with Alexander Campbell in 1810. His father never joined the Christian Church but remained a Presbyterian. He followed his father's footsteps for four years and then—forty-two years ago—joined the Disciples of Christ, since which he had taught and labored everywhere, having organized hundreds of congregations. His record and standing could be found in the last number of the church paper now on fire in the Y. M. C. A. It would readily be conceded, therefore, that if anybody in Honolulu knew what the Christian church was or what its teachings were he was the man. He had always received kind and courteous treatment from everybody of all ranks and beliefs in Honolulu until now with the exceptions he would point out. Originally he came to Honolulu temporarily and was going away, but decided to stay and open a mission at the earnest request of some dear friends. Work first began among the Japanese. When the Japanese Methodist minister came down and insisted on working under the name of Methodist and not of Christian he had ceased to work with them, as he felt it to be contrary to the Word of God to work under any name but Christ's. Mr. Peck, the Methodist minister, then began distributing tracts which asserted that the true name of the denomination was the Campbellites and that they taught baptismal regeneration. Mr. Garvin wrote to Mr. Peck, pointing out that both of these assertions were untrue and inviting Mr. Peck to come to his congregation and prove them or offering that he (Garvin) would go to Peck's congregation and disprove them. Mr. Peck refused the challenge and went on distributing the tracts. Then Mr. Bishop wrote in the Friend as above narrated. Mr. Garvin then proceeded to read the extracts from the Friend in their entirety and commented on what he considered unfair or unjust in them. He first pointed out that the name Campbellites was a nickname and specially offensive to them, as they believed it wrong to bear the name of any mortal as a religious name and only the name of Christ could be used in that connection. He pointed out that Webster's Dictionary and the Cyclopedias defined the church always by its true names—The Church of Christ, the Christian Church and the Disciples of Christ. He denied stoutly the charge of proselytizing and dared anyone to assert that ever in his life, he had asked anyone to join his congregation or persuaded them to leave their own already belonging to one. He had simply preached the Scriptures and urged obedience to our Lord's commands. As far as elevating baptism by immersion to the extent of ten times the amount of stress on other biblical commands, he would say while that amount of water would prevent any sermon from being dry he had not done so. So also the charge that he was sowing tares (the children of the devil). Throughout the address Mr. Garvin, while in dead earnest, was full of gentleness towards Mr. Bishop, and while frequently mildly and sarcastically humorous, yet was throughout straightforward and manly. He wound up by giving as the conditions of entrance into and fellowship in the Church of Christ—faith, repentance, confession, baptism and faithful continuance. That they pleaded for a complete return to the belief and practice of the primitive church as made known in the New Testament and that they had no creed or tenets not found in the words of Scripture, and that they claimed no exclusive right to the title Church of Christ, but could accept no man's name as their title.

Libert. Stillman then gave evidence as to there having been no proselytizing of anyone by inviting them to join the church. Announcement was made that lectures on the history of the Christian Church for the past 19 centuries would be given every evening this week in the tent. To-night's lecture is to be on the first three centuries. It will be most interesting.

Every silver lining has its cloud. The rain is worth many thousands of dollars to the sugar producers but it has a depressing effect upon the bicycle trade. We are not handling riding wheels but we have the finest lubricating and lamp-oil for bicycles ever brought to this country. The containers have wee spouts to them so that the lamps may be filled direct from the cans and without spilling. This oil may be used in carriage side lights at a much less cost than peanut oil. It's in pint cans and sells at 50 cents. We have also a large stock of sewing machine oil suitable for all kinds of fine machinery including Typewriters.

Our famous Dietz Oil Stoves with ovens and cooking utensils have arrived and are offered to you at low prices. These stoves are arranged so that there is not the slightest odor from the lamps, and they may be used at an expense of about two cents a meal. People in Honolulu who are using this make of stove pronounce it perfect in every respect. One customer told us he would not accept any other kind of stove as a gift. If you prefer an iron stove our stock of Pansy Stoves all sizes is now complete. Painters will be interested in our stock of Shellac, Copal and all sorts of varnishes as well as lead and oils which has been largely augmented by recent arrivals. In addition to the celebrated Belding Refrigerators we carry the new Alaskan, constructed on entirely different principles from any other and made of hard wood and parts liable to rust fully protected. This is the same make of refrigerator used in the California Hotel in San Francisco. We have some Common Sense pot cleaners that are needed in every kitchen in the country. Every lady who occasionally does kitchen work appreciates the value of a good pot cleaner. Road Scrapers will be needed after these big rain storms. We have some in stock suitable for the work. We are now selling the "Dandy" anti-rattler for carriages where the shafts keep up a continual shaking. If you want to enjoy your ride do so by using an anti-rattler and ridding yourself of annoyance on that score. The sugar grinding season is at hand and engineers will have use for oils for the mill machinery. The "Colorado" brands are known as the Standard in this country and can be relied upon for their purity and general good qualities. We have this brand of oil in use on almost every plantation on the islands and wherever it is used satisfaction is the result. We have always in stock Dynamo, Cylinder, Machine, Engine and Car Box oil in "Colorado" brand. It is the best manufactured and the best used. Our stock of holiday goods is complete in every particular when it comes to useful articles, rich in quality and low in price.

the thoughts of the householder are directed towards fuel as a means of keeping warm. To get the right quality at the right price is the matter to be considered. There's lots and lots of wood for sale, but to get what is best for the money is the question.

We contend and we believe we are right in our judgment, that the wood we deliver to our patrons is the best ever offered for sale in Honolulu. Our algaroba is full growth and has more body to it than that grown anywhere on the Islands. Our wood choppers know a good thing when they see it, and in cutting they select only what they know to be good to use. We never deliver any except what is good. You take no chances whatever when you telephone us an order for wood. You get just as good as if you came to the ranch and selected it yourself.
